ALL ARE WELCOME to register for the annual Gentle Teaching learning event at SHARE Foundation May 22-24.

This 3-day workshop will be welcoming back
Dr. Anthony M. McCrovitz
(Director of Quality of Life Institute, Inc., co-founder of Globe Star), and

Christian tradition that is celebrated and incorporated into our three days at the St. Timothy Center. A daily blessing is given by SHARE's president and founder, Fr. Dennis Blaney, who is also the author of "Sharing LOVE," a book of beautiful stories and reflections on his life's path that led to his vision and founding of the SHARE Foundation.

PRODUCED BY:

"Wisdom is about what to do next" is this year's theme, based on James 3:17: "The wisdom that is from above is first pure, then peaceable, gentle...without partiality..."

Maurits Eijgendaal from the Netherlands (President of International Snoezelen-MSE Association, a leader and manager of social organizations for more than 35 years; past president of Gentle Teaching International). Together, they will present a foundational understanding of Gentle Teaching, its philosophy and essential applications for a practice of mentoring a spirit of gentleness.

We will discuss the path of decision-making in our mentoring work, and how the four pillars of a Gentle Teaching framework (safe, loved, loving, engaged) guide the mentor in engaging the other in dialogue (verbal & non-verbal).

Learn how to cultivate a path of wisdom for quality of life outcomes that affirm, with the other: you can feel safe with me; you can feel loved by me; you can feel loving toward me; you can feel connected with me.

Mentoring a spirit of gentleness cultivates interactions that are peaceable, gentle, and without partiality [unconditional acceptance].
